

The Network of Religious Communities Presents

SHARING OUR RELIGIOUS TRADITIONS: A FESTIVAL OF FAITHS

3:30 PM TO 7:30 PM SUNDAY JUNE 5TH

St. Amelia Roman Catholic Church, 2999 Eggert Rd., Tonawanda, NY

*An opportunity to learn about the religious traditions of Western, NY
Are you interesting in learning about a religious tradition other than your own? Do you want to learn about a religious tradition from someone who practices that tradition? Do you want to learn about a religious tradition other than your own, but have limited time?*

The Network of Religious Communities has you in mind in offering, “Sharing our Religious Traditions: A Festival of Faiths”, from 3:30 PM to 7:30 PM Sunday June 5, 2005 at St. Amelia Roman Catholic Church, 2999 Eggert Road, Tonawanda, NY. This event is open to members of all denominations, religious organizations and congregations.

During “Sharing Our Religious Traditions” the Network of Religious Communities will offer a variety of workshops presented by members of the various traditions found in Western New York. Each workshop will be presented twice so that persons attending the event will be able to participate in two different workshops.

Traditions offering workshops during “Sharing Our Religious Traditions” include: Islam, Hinduism, Judaism, Baha’i, Sikhism, Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints, Religious Society of Friends, Christian Pentecostal, Roman Catholic, Unity, Unitarian Universalism, Episcopal, Mennonite and several others. Each workshop will last one hour and fifteen minutes.

Between the workshop offerings there will time for fellowship time during which participants will be able to sample foods from the various traditions represented at “Sharing Our Religious Traditions: A Festival of Faiths”

Please share this information with others, especially members of congregations throughout Western New York.
